About NABARD

What is NABARD?

National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD) is an apex regulatory body for the overall regulation of regional rural banks or RRBs and apex cooperative banks in India. It is under the authority of the Ministry of Finance, Government of India.

NABARD, as a Development Bank, is mandated to provide and regulate credit and other facilities for the promotion and development of agriculture, small-scale industries, cottage, and village industries, handicrafts, and other rural crafts and other allied economic activities in rural areas to promote integrated rural development and securing prosperity of rural areas.

Brief History of NABARD

NABARD came into existence on 12 July, 1982, by an Act of the Parliament. It was dedicated to the nation's service by the late Prime Minister Smt. Indira Gandhi on 05 November 1982. Consequent to the revision in the composition of share capital between the Government of India and RBI, NABARD today is wholly owned by the Government of India.

Functions of NABARD

The strength of NABARD is in its mandate, i.e., "The development bank of the nation for fostering Rural Prosperity". It is the only development bank in the nation that aims at rural prosperity. The 3 major roles of NABARD to facilitate rural prosperity are as below:

- Financial:
  Financial function of NABARD includes direct financing to various institutions such as state governments & District Central Cooperative Banks (DCCBs) through various schemes or projects and second is indirect financing (means refinance) to the Banks, including all the commercial banks, Regional Rural Banks (RRBs), and Cooperative Banks, for the farm sector loans for the production purposes at concessional rate of interest.

- Developmental:
  NABARD's developmental role includes- development of several banks like State Cooperative Agriculture and Rural Development Bank, Regional Rural Banks, etc., providing support to Self Help Groups & the Farmers Producers Organizations, financing state governments for rural infrastructure, e.t.c. It has several funds as a developmental initiative e.g.

  - Watershed Development Fund, for which NABARD grants loans to the state government and NGOs to develop watersheds, an area of land that drains water into a specific waterbody.
  - Tribal Development Fund, as the name suggests, is a scheme related to the development of tribes.
  - Climate Change Fund, for which NABARD is a national implementing authority, is responsible for the adaptation fund implementation. This initiative aims at fostering sustainable development and contributing meaningfully towards national priorities.

- Supervisory:
  NABARD is authorized to conduct inspection of State Cooperative Banks (StCBs), District Central Cooperative Banks (DCCBs) and Regional Rural Banks (RRBs). In addition, NABARD has also been conducting periodic inspections of state level cooperative institutions such as State Cooperative Agriculture and Rural Development Banks (SCARDBs), Apex Weavers Societies, Marketing Federations etc., on a voluntary basis. It also suggests ways and means for strengthening the institutions so as to enable them to play a more efficient role in purveying rural credit.

Hierarchy in NABARD

Advantages of working with NABARD

The nature of the function that NABARD performs is diverse compared to Commercial Banks. Below are some of the many advantages of working with NABARD-

- After every 2-3 years, you will get posted to different departments, so the work is never monotonous.
- In Commercial Banks, the primary role is financing. But the financial role of NABARD is different as it does not have public dealings and is involved in refinancing or indirect financing to governments, NGOs etc,. Even if NABARD is financing, it is limited to the institutions and not individuals.
- Developmental and supervisory roles are something that are exclusive to NABARD.

How has the NABARD Grade A pattern evolved?

NABARD Grade A examination pattern has changed in the year 2021. Before the year 2021, the Phase 1 was a single paper comprising 200 questions & 200 marks and the cut-off was calculated out of 200 marks. The subjects included -

- Quantitative Aptitude (20 marks)
- Reasoning (20 marks)
- English (40 marks)
- Computer Knowledge (20 marks)
- General Awareness (20 marks)
- ESI (40 marks)
- ARD (40 marks)

The Phase 1 still is a single paper of 200 marks but now they have added one more subject, Decision Making (10 marks) and reduced the weightage of English from 40 marks to 30 marks. Also, it is now divided into merit & non merit sections, wherein ESI, ARD & GA constitute to merit section and rest of them are qualifying in nature and the cut-off for Phase 1 is calculated out of 100 marks only.

Then Phase 2 had 2 papers-

- Paper 1 was Descriptive English (100 marks)
- Paper 2 was ESI & ARD (100 marks) that used to be an objective type.

Descriptive English has no changes, but paper 2 is now 50% objective & 50% descriptive. Lastly, interview prior to 2021 had the weightage of 25 marks but now holds the weightage of 50 marks.

How is the work-life balance at NABARD?

In spite of being the junior most officer, the work profile of Grade A officer is very enriching, because you are able to contribute to the vision of the NABARD from day 1 and you gain experience from day 1.

NABARD is a very lean organization. It is an officer oriented organization that has around 3000 staff working all over India. NABARD invests a lot in its staff so there is a lot of coaching and mentoring that happens all the time. - All about postings:
  The first posting that one can expect is either in the head office, i.e., Mumbai, or any state capitals, or in one of the training establishments. As far as lady officers are concerned, NABARD tries to accommodate them in their home state or the state closer to their home state, however it depends on the vacancy. In annual transfers, there are considerations for medical cases or the married couples. So the postings and transfers in NABARD are not very difficult. You need not worry much about transfers in NABARD because it happens only after spending 5-6 years in one place.

Resources for Phase 1

In this section we will share the recommended books and other sources you need for Quantitative Aptitude, Reasoning, English, Computer Knowledge, Decision Making and General Awareness. ESI and ARD of Phase 1 we will discuss under Phase 2 as they are common for both Phase 1 & 2.

- Quantitative Aptitude -
  Quantitative Aptitude by Dr. R.S. Aggarwal and Lucent's Quantitative Aptitude for CAT/XAT are the two good books for the preparation, but these books alone will not be helpful, you will need to complement your preparation with YouTube videos and the PYQs. PYQs will assist you about the type of questions asked in the examination.

- Reasoning -
  For reasoning the recommended books are A New Approach to Reasoning By Arihant and A Modern Approach to Verbal & Non-Verbal Reasoning by Dr. R.S.Aggarwal. Again these are not sufficient and need to be complemented with YouTube lectures and PYQs to have an idea of the types of questions asked in the exam.

- English Language -
  Here you need to understand that merely reading out a book will not do the job. So, we are not recommending a book for English. What we suggest for English is reading good English Newspapers like The Hindu & The Economic Times which will help you improve your vocabulary and reading speed.

- Computer Knowledge -
  The easiest subject in phase 1 of NABARD Grade A exam is computer knowledge. The 2 books recommended for this subject are Computer Awareness by Arihant and Computer by Lucent's but they are not to be done cover to cover and just go through only those topics that are mentioned in the syllabus above.

- Decision Making -
  There is no single book that would fulfill the demand of the exam. There are 3 books namely, Principles & Practice of Management by T.N. Chabra, Principles & Practice of Management by L.M. Prasad and Principles of Management by Mc Graw Hill Publication. However, they need not be read cover to cover and only a few topics such as Steps to make a decision, types of decision, techniques of decision making, etc are important to be covered. Also, go through the PYQ of 2021, to have a fair idea about what to read and what to skip.

- General Awareness (GA) -
  General Awareness is divided into static and current affairs. For static GK, the recommended book is Lucent's General Knowledge and for current affairs, you need to cover 3-4 months of current affairs from any good magazine that is relevant for the exam.

Resources for Phase 2

Descriptive English -

There is no book that can be suggested for Descriptive English. The only 2 things that come to the rescue are, PYQs and the Newspaper editorials. PYQs will help you with the types of questions asked in the examination. To improve your vocabulary & speed in Reading comprehension and Precis writing, read as many editorials as possible. Letter, report and essay writing are to be written in a particular format/structure which you can learn through YouTube Videos by Narveer sir, or any other mentor you are comfortable with. All in all, Descriptive English is all about practice, the more you practice the better you get.

Economics & Social Issues(ESI) -

ESI can be further divided into ESI Static and current affairs.The weightage of ESI Static is not very high and if your current part is prepared, the static part can be easily dealt with because economics & social issues are majorly about the current things going on in the country. Still, if you are completely new to this subject, you may consider reading Indian Economy by Ramesh Singh for economics and Social Problems in India by Ram Ahuja for social issues. But read only the selective topics from these books, as per the syllabus. The most important topics w.r.t. current affairs are as below-

- Latest Union Budget Economic Survey - Budget and Economic Survey documents are too bulky, you need not go through it in whole, rather you can just go through the summary document or videos available on YouTube and solve questions on them.
- Reports + Rankings/Indices - The reports that are released 6-7 months prior to examination are really important.
- Summits + Conferences that are related to the syllabus such as gender issues, sustainable development, etc.
- Government Schemes - To be covered only those which are regularly in news for eg., one nation one ration card scheme, this is an old scheme but is important because, The Department of Food and Public Distribution (DFPD) received the Prime Minister's Award for Excellence in Public Administration, 2020 for the 'One Nation One Ration Card' scheme. This simply means that no matter the scheme is old or new, if it is in news due to any modifications, year celebration or due to any other reasons, it becomes important for the upcoming exams.
- Important Committees + Commissions
- GDP Forecasts - The GDP forecast, 5-6 days prior to the examination is very important for the exam.
- Latest Socio Economic and Caste Census (SECC) & Census

How to cover them? The recommended sources are given below -

- PIB - It is the major source to cover the current affairs
- PRS
- NABARD Website
- Standard Newspapers like The Hindu, Businessline & Economic Times
- Vikaspedia - For government schemes

It is, however, a tedious task to cover everything from these given sources and then make notes from them for revision. So we suggest you refer to some good compilation that covers all these sources in one place. But it should be relevant for the NABARD Grade A exam.

Agriculture & Rural Development (ARD) -

ARD is again divided into static and current parts.

ARD Static -

For the static part there is no single book that will help, you will therefore have to choose the topics from different books to cover the syllabus holistically. Some of the recommended books for ARD Static are -

- Agriculture at a glance by Arun Sharma
- Fundamentals of Agriculture by Arun Katyayan
- Elements of Agriculture Engg by Dr Jagadeeshwar Sahay
- Glaustas Horticulture by P Muthu Kumara and R Selva Kumar
- A Text book of Animal Husbandry by G C Banerjee
- A Competitive Book of Agriculture by NemRaj Sunda - This book has a lot of topics of the syllabus so you can refer to it majorly.

Besides, these books are not to be read cover to cover, rather selective topics are to be referred from these books. If you are planning to take up a course, you can prepare ARD without these books only from the course material.

ARD Current Affairs-

Important topics to be covered for ARD current affairs are as below -

- Latest Agriculture census, Livestock census & Handloom census - 1 or 2 questions are asked almost every year from these census.
- Latest Minimum Support Prices (MSPs) released - Same as GDP forecast in ESI, for ARD, MSPs are released by the government for Rabi marketing season, kharif marketing season, etc.
- Latest advance estimates released - These estimates are released on PIB so you can cover it from there and Handbook of Agriculture, Handbook of Horticulture, Handbook on Fisheries statistics (For yearly data) are also released by the respective ministries on their website and needs to be covered for the facts and figures related to the syllabus.

- Schemes related to agriculture and allied sectors, Rural India development and allied sectors of rural India.
- Latest Reports like NAFIS survey, Agricultural Marketing and Farmer Friendly Reforms Index etc. are important and are easily available on their respective websites.
- Annual Report of - NABARD, Ministry of Rural Development (MoRD) and Ministry of Agriculture & Farmers' Welfare (MoAFW). However, the annual report of only NABARD is more important and that of MoRD & MoAFW is not that important.

How to cover them? Through the sources mentioned below -

- PIB
- PRS
- NABARD Website
- Ministry Websites
- Vikaspedia

But you need to understand that if you are reading from these websites, you have to have your own notes so as to make revision easy when the exam is close. Else, you may refer to some good compilation that covers all these sources in one place

Resources for Interview

Interview is a very important part of your recruitment cycle for 2 reasons -

- The marks of the interview are counted in the final merit list, i.e., the final merit is released on the basis of marks of Phase 2 + interview.
- The weightage of the interview which was 25 marks prior to the 2021 examination has now increased to 50 marks.

Since it is a hard earned stage, one cannot lose the rhythm here, the consistency that was maintained till Phase 2 should remain till the interview stage as well. So, let us see what all is required for this stage -

- First of all, How is the interview conducted? Interview is conducted in the Regional offices of NABARD for which you are supposed to send an email to NABARD with your Roll no., Name, Disciple and Choice of Centre. If you do not send this email, by default your interview centre would be the same as your mains examination centre.
- Now, What to do at this stage? First is, Prepare Your Best because a few things you cannot control such as, mood of the examiner but preparation can be well in your control. Interview is basically the personality test and knowledge here is secondary because knowledge has already been tested in the previous 2 stages. These are the 4 Pillars for being interview ready -

- About Yourself - You need to prepare about yourself on these lines -
  - Prepare a list of questions from your Detailed Application Form (DAF) that is to be filled before the interview
  - Make all possible questions on every column that you fill
  - Prepare the best answers and make sure you are pretty honest during the interview and you are good at presenting your answers well.
  - Discuss the answers with your family and friends

You need to be crystal clear about yourself because if you are not aware of the functions of NABARD, it can be acceptable, but if you are not confident about your educational background, your work experience, etc., that creates a really bad impression.

- About NABARD - It is very important to know about the organization you are going to work with, so you need to cover these things from the NABARD website-
  - Working & functions of NABARD
  - NABARD Annual Report (Latest) - Specifically if anything related to your state is mentioned, needs to be covered.
  - State Focus Paper by NABARD - There is a paper on NABARD website for every state, you just need to read the paper related to your state and a neighbouring state.
  - Important initiatives and projects by NABARD.
  - Also, when you are done with about yourself and NABARD, you also should be able to link how your expertise can be beneficial in NABARD, for eg. you have done B.Tech, so how your qualification can help, to which you may answer that your technical knowledge can help in further advancements in the organization or something of that sort. Basically you need to be thorough with your DAF and NABARD functions & working.
- Current Issues
  - Latest Union Budget & Economic Survey - specially the agri budget data
  - Current Issues related to Agriculture & Rural Developments - You can cover them from magazines like Kurukshetra, Krishi Jagran or through newspapers.
  - Developments in the Economic Sector - Newspapers are the best source to cover them.
  - Day to day events going on.
- Your Static Syllabus
  - Brush up ESI and ARD as they may ask about the basic concepts and terms in the interview however, the chances are less
  - Central government Schemes and state schemes of your state, related to Agriculture & Rural Development

- Second is to Take Mock Interviews. Why?
  - Because it helps you test yourself
  - It stimulates your thought process. For eg., the questions asked in the mock interview may be on different lines which you might have not even thought of.
  - It gives you firsthand experience, but only if you take a mock interview from an experienced panelist.

Our 6 step formula to become NABARD Grade A Officer

- What is the 6 step formula?
- Our legacy - Our Students

What is the 6-Step Formula?

Set a clear goal #1

Always remember that when goals are vague, outcomes are vague. So does it mean that you must set only 1 and clear goal of clearing the NABARD Grade A examination? You may. Nothing wrong in it. We, however recommend following a Plan A and Plan B approach. And no, Plan B here does not mean a backup career option! What it means is that you should design your Plan A and Plan B exams in such a manner that 1) the preparation of your Plan A exam/s 'must' automatically lead to atleast 80% preparation of Plan B exam/s and 2) when you are devoting time to study for Plan B exam/s, it must automatically strengthen your preparation for Plan A exam/s.

For example - Let's say your Plan A exam is to crack the NABARD Grade A exam, what should be your Plan B? The most ideal Plan B will be RBI Grade B exam. How? Because it checks both points as explained above - preparation of NABARD Grade A automatically leads to preparation of 80% syllabus of RBI Grade B and when you are devoting time to study anything for RBI Grade B, it is actually strengthening your preparation for NABARD Grade A as well. Understood? Let's move to step 2.

#2 Understand the exam

The syllabus and previous year questions are like the 2 headlights of your car of preparation. You miss one of these and your car will meet with an accident, let me guarantee you this right here! The biggest blunder aspirants like you commit is that they do not define the scope of the syllabus of the examination and prepare under the impression that anything and everything can be asked in the examination which is even remotely related to the syllabus!

Hell no! This is NOT the case. Download and print a copy of the syllabus and then do the same for previous year questions (link has been provided above). Go through the syllabus atleast 10 times and then go through the previous year questions (year wise) and see for yourself what are the important topics and in what depth they need to be studied for the examination. Believe me, more than 90% of the so-called sincere aspirants do not do this.

#3 Shortlist Resources

Based on step 2 above, now is the time to shortlist your study sources - be it coaching material, books, websites, magazines, or the like! And remember, once you prepare a list of the resources that you are going to follow, DO NOT get swayed by new material that keeps flooding the market through telegram, Facebook, websites, advertisements, etc! Keep your head down and focus on completing your study sources. Yes, once you are done with your sources, you can move to a secondary source but not before that!

#4 Design a Time Table

This is a very important step - you must design a time table for yourself. This time table is for 'you' and 'you' alone. Do not compare your time table with others, some like studying early in the morning, some like to burn the midnight oil, some can sit at a stretch for 6 hours, some study for 2 hours and take a break and then study again. Some study on all 7 days, some study for 5 days and take a 2-day break. Whatever! The point or the goal is to have a time table that 'works' for 'you'. It is not meant to earn shower of praises from your parents, friends or peers!

Develop Consistency #5

Ah consistency! The ever-elusive thing! The secret to developing consistency is to make 'micro easy targets'. How? Let's compare 2 situations. Student A makes a plan that he will study 8 hours everyday starting tomorrow and sets a goal for himself for the next day - cover 50 pages of current affairs magazine, 20 pages of motivation theories from a book, 50 questions of ratio and proportion and write 1 essay. He starts his day full of energy but towards the end of the day finds himself in quite an uncomfortable position realizing that only 50% of the target has been covered. He is not able to sleep comfortably that night and gets up the next morning tired and frustrated. Now he has to complete the pending tasks of Day 1 as well as cover whatever he decided foe Day 2 as well! Quite an uphill task, don't you think?

On the other hand, Student B makes a plan that he will also study 8 hours a day and sets a goal of completing 20 pages of current affairs magazine, 10 pages of motivation theories and 1 essay. What will happen is that this student will complete his target ahead of schedule and having done that feel elated, joyful and full of confidence! This will lead to a good night's sleep and hence even higher energy for the next day!

Getting my rhythm? This is how you make 'micro and 'easy' targets and achieve them daily and move ahead with consistency.

Develop Faith #6

Always think from your mind and feel from your heart. If you reverse this sentence, you will get trapped in 'emotions'. Being emotional isn't bad at all, it's good! Getting trapped in emotions is what is bad! Once you complete step 1-5, you will start to develop faith in yourself. Have a little trust on your mentors as well, talk to them, mail them, get in touch and see how they can help you!

After you learn and understand this 6 Step Formula to dominate NABARD Grade A Exam, you can literally apply it on any examination you are taking or might take in the future!

The above formula will always help you set a clear goal (Plan and B) and plan all your activities around that one clear goal.

EduTap has helped me in a number of ways throughout this journey. The knowledge of Regulatory Bodies exam and how good they are came to me through EduTap, way back in 2018. It was then that I decided to put papers and go for it. I was a subscriber to your course in this attempt as well and I have watched videos thoroughly for NABARD and solved MCQs. Strategy sessions with Anchit sir, Rittika Mam and Veena mam were very helpful to keep me motivated and on the right track. Mock tests for NABARD both of Phase 1 and Phase 2 were instrumental in boosting my confidence as I was in Top 100 always. Super 100 batch daily Quizzes for 20 days before exam was also a good strategy. I was always in Top 10.

Ms. Namitha Satheesh

NABARD Grade A 2021 ★★★★★

I wish to take this opportunity to thank EduTap for its role in my preparation. I had enrolled for the RBI Grade B + NABARD Grade A Combo, attended the mock interview and had enrolled in the Interview batch. The mock interview was extremely helpful for me, since the panelists asked me questions from all areas and even listed out other possible questions and sources I could refer to get the answer to them. They corrected me wherever required and helped me in improving my responses by correcting both the delivery of the response and referring to further sources I could use to add on to whatever I had said. It also had an encouraging effect and was one of the reasons I felt confident in attending the actual interview. The material was extremely helpful, especially the ESI & FM syllabus, in gaining a good hold on the subject. The interview batch was very comprehensive and covered many different areas as well. I once again, thank EduTap, for the crucial role in my success today. I also hope that EduTap keeps up its splendid work; I will continue to be a student for my preparation.

Who We Are

It was the year 2016 when Mr. Anchit Garg and Mr. Deepak Garg, our co-founders, came up with the vision to provide a quality content and a much-needed mentorship to the students who are preparing for regulatory bodies' exams. With this vision, they also had a crystal clear WHY of that vision; "to create a nurturing ecosystem for the aspirants, so that they can feel safe, guided and mentored". As of this moment in time, every member of our team looks back at the initial reason for starting EduTap and appreciates that we are living up to our creed - because every other aspect of what we do helps us achieve our ultimate goal. Yes, this is not achievable in its entirety but, the point is we try. The point is we aspire. The point is we take the above statement as our compass that guides our thoughts, behaviour and actions. The whole point is we feel inspired to come to work and feel fulfilled at the end of the day that we did all we could, with everything we got to 'try' and achieve the ideal. We at EduTap live by this value statement. We strive for this ideal. We work towards this aim. Everyday. Each day.

What Makes Us Different?

Our student-centric services, we do not deny the fact that content is in abundance in the market, but we at EduTap promise (read it pledge) to give you the best services. We very patiently acknowledge the problems of the aspirants (even if they are not our paid subscribers) and try to resolve them to the maximum possible extent.
